It's Giving Tuesday!!

Dear Friends of NBT,

This Giving Tuesday, New Brunswick Tomorrow is asking for your help as we raise funds to provide support to teen parents and their children in the New Brunswick High School's Parent Infant Care Center (PIC-C).

student-parents and their children on-site at the high school. Here, children are cared for in a secure, loving environment, while student-parents focus on their studies in an effort to graduate high school. The PIC-C serves up to 22 parents and children each year.

Antonio (pictured above) is a student attending NBHS, and, if being a teenager wasn't challenging enough, he is also a dad. Antonio represents many of our teen parents facing difficult obstacles to achieving their dreams.

Thanks to NBT, Antonio and his girlfriend have a safe, highly-rated childcare center to leave their young daughter while they attend school. Moreover, they have a dedicated staff to help them navigate the challenges of parenting, teach important life skills, help them set goals for their future, and so much more. The Parent Infant Care Center (PIC-C) program made all the difference for Antonio and his ability to graduate high school and move forward on his path.

Visit www.nbtomorrow.org and make your donation today. Your gift, no matter the size, will help NBT continue to support teen parents like Antonio so they can succeed.

Thank you, in advance, for your gift!!

a dad. He worried that he would struggle in school and wouldn't graduate.

Then Antonio and his girlfriend enrolled in the PIC-C program at New Brunswick High School, where his daughter received great care, and Antonio was surrounded by a supportive staff that helped him stay in school and create a vision for his future. Antonio felt empowered by having access to all of the resources provided by the PIC-C program. He is committed to making sure his daughter will have the brightest future he can provide her.

In its 8 years of existence, PIC-C has enabled 100% of its teen parents to stay in school and over 86% have graduated. NBT is proud to support a program that helps our young adults have the best chance for a bright future.
